

Community Action Agency of Greater Kansas City is a nonprofit organization providing free programs and services to low-income residents in Clay, Jackson and Platte counties in Missouri.

A successful Energy Auditor candidate holds a high school diploma or GED. Candidate will provide cost effective energy efficient home improvements to lower utility bills and improve comfort while ensuring health and safety. Mathematical and writing skills a must. Perform interviews with clients and complete home assessment inside and outside the home. Must be able to comfortably working in all temperatures and weather conditions. Uniforms and equipment provided.

Our compressed work week, Monday –Thursday from 8:00 am -6:00 pm, with an hour lunch, is the first step to supporting our team members with a work-life balance. You will have immediate access to holiday pay, Financial Wellness and Employee Assistance Programs. Our benefits: medical, dental, vision, short and long term disability, voluntary life, supplemental insurance, and flexible spending account are effective the first month after the date of hire. Our rich retirement plan matches 5% of our team members' gross earnings with an additional 2% match, available after six month of employment.

Mission

Community Action Agency of Greater Kansas City (CAAGKC) provides low-income residents of Clay, Jackson and Platte counties in Missouri comprehensive support services that help them become self-sufficient.